

AVIRAJ SINHA

---

Katy, TX 77494 • H: 901-255-2744 • C: 828-750-3310 • sinhaavirajs@gmail.com • github username:avirajs

Please accept this letter of introduction as my deep desire to be considered for the position currently open. I am currently in the process of earning both my Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Computer Science from Southern Methodist University (SMU) and would enjoy the opportunity to improve my current skills working with your team.

Throughout my education, I have expanded my training and am now eager to take on the challenge of programming new solutions using C/Python/Ruby. Additionally, I bring a strong understanding of analyzing networks and security levels using Linux tools, gathering and analyzing testing data, drafting reports and presenting findings to peers and supervisors. My strength lies in making each project my own, streamlining the processes and maximizing the results for the teams and clients I serve.

Specific highlights of my experience include:

- Expertise in using leading-edge development tools and design methodologies to identify project goals and create scripts and code that reduce manual tasks and automate system operations.
- Participating within technology development teams, helping to achieve defined objectives and complete complex software development projects.
- Building strong skill sets in working with program applications development tools and quantitative programs used to automate data mining tasks and reporting processes.
- Demonstrating understanding in working across multiple platforms and systems, assisting peers and clients to create dynamic solutions to complex issues.
- Demonstrating a high-level of technical understanding, working hand-in-hand with various business units to create dynamic solutions for complex developmental issues.

Added to this, I have a strong commitment to excellence and am comfortable interacting with management at all levels to achieve the goals set before me. I am confident in my ability to quickly be valued as a contributing and vital member of your team based on my ability to the highest standards of excellence with a positive attitude, a strong work ethic, and dedication to achieving the objectives set before me.

Therefore, I am requesting the opportunity to meet with you so that we may discuss my experience and this opportunity in greater detail. In the interim, thank you for your consideration and attention to my request.

Sincerely,

Aviraj Sinha

Enclosure: Resume